

2Source Manufacturing Commits To $17-Million Capital Spending Program; Ontario Government Supports Program Through AMIS

MISSISSAUGA, Ontario, August 18, 2008 – 2Source Manufacturing Inc. said today it will invest $17 million in a multi-year, capital spending program to create a global centre of excellence in aircraft bushings. The Ontario Ministry of Economic Trade and Development is supporting a portion of the program through its Advanced Manufacturing Investment Strategy (AMIS). Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty and Minister of Small Business and Consumer Services Harinder Takhar made the announcement at 2Source's manufacturing facility today.

2Source's capital spending will be directed to enhanced manufacturing methodologies and processes, and to new, high-tech machinery and infrastructure. As a result, 2Source expects to strengthen its competitive position, continue to decrease its lead times, train new staff, and maintain a significant growth rate in revenues. The company is committed to retaining and increasing highly skilled jobs in Ontario.

2Source's Chairman and CEO Robert Glegg said, "Our company is rapidly becoming a leading international supplier of high-precision landing gear bushings for key aircraft platforms. Our board of directors, management team and staff are excited about accelerating our investment in next-generation manufacturing equipment, systems and best practices to improve our products, increase productivity, and add capacity for our customers. At the same time, we are proud to play an important role in keeping Ontario at the forefront of the global, high-tech aerospace industry."
